Marty specializes in complex commercial litigation and has handled myriad business disputes in courts across the United States over his nearly 20-year career. As a commercial litigator, Marty has significant experience in franchise litigation, condominium and construction law, employment law, bankruptcy litigation and white-collar criminal law, including representing financial institution creditors on contested matters. He has represented several of the largest global brands in state and federal courts, including cross-border disputes in international arbitration forums. Marty has represented franchise businesses large and small in matters involving protection of trademarks and intellectual property rights, franchise terminations, discrimination claims, covenants not to compete, unfair competition, business torts and numerous other issues. He has also served as outside legal counsel to franchisors, providing day-to-day advice with respect to state and federal compliance, disclosure documents, trademark protection, defaults and terminations, amongst other issues.

Marty is active in both professional and civic organizations, having worked with organizations such as the Children's Home Society and Dade County Bar Association Young Lawyers Division Minority Bar Passage Program. In addition, he has been selected as an "Up & Comer" by South Florida Legal Guide.

He received his Juris Doctor, cum laude, from the University of Miami School of Law in 2001, where he was a member of the Entertainment and Sports Law Review and served on the Moot Court Board. While in law school, he interned for U.S. District Court Judge Shelby Highsmith and represented the University of Miami in the Conrad Duberstein National Bankruptcy Moot Competition at St. John's University. He earned his Bachelor of Arts, cum laude, in political science and sport management, from the University of Massachusetts-Amherst in 1998, where he was the arts editor and a member of the Editorial Board for The Massachusetts Daily Collegian, the largest daily collegiate newspaper in New England.

Outside of the office, Marty is an avid traveler, having visited nearly 80 countries on 6 continents (you can guess which one is missing). A native Chicagoan, Marty is also a fan of Chicago's (mostly) long-suffering professional sports teams. He is a melophile and counts nearly 20,000 songs on his outdated iPod.
